GOVERNOR MORTON LOOKING INTO EX-TRAVAGANCES AT ALBANY.

OUTLAT FOR TAKING CARE OF THE CAPITOL-AN EXPENSIVE ARCHITECT-PROSPECTIVE

Albany, Jan. 6.-While Mayor Strong in New-York is preparing to make a thorough inspec tion of the books of the city departments to funds, Governor Morton and Controller Roberts, cers and heads of State commissions with a the extravagance fostered of late years by the Democratic executives of the State shall be checked and a large reduction be made in the State's expenses. Governor Morton and Controller Roberts had a conference yesterday in the Executive Chamber especially in relation to the outgoes upon the te Capitol and the public buildings in Albany, as well as upon armories and asylums elsewhere in the State. Mr. Morton has the appointment of a new Capitol Commissioner now in his gift, and unfoubtedly will soon have the authority to appoint a Superintendent of Buildings, it being plainly the resolve of the Legislature to pass an tendent. It was therefore timely for Governor Morton to make inquiry of Controller Roberts ting the cost to the State of recent years hanty, father-in-law of United States Senator Superintendent of Buildings-he has charge of the cost of maintaining these buildings has increased in an astonishing way the last four

nance between 1893 and 1894 is caused by the circumstance that an electrical apparatus costing ing $11,947.42, were made; which were not made in Superintendent Delehanty giving employment large number of Democratic politicians They could not have been needed, since the build account of the Superintendent of Buildings has increased in the following startling way in four years of recent Democratic administration:

The yearly salary list of the Superintendent of Public Buildings has thus increased nearly $60,-000 in four years. Nearly all this money has gone into the pockets of retainers of Senator Edward jr., for Superintendent Delehanty naturally had a kindly feeling toward the sonin-law who had given him a $3,500 office. While Superintendent Delehanty has thus enormously increased the salary list of the orderlies, elevator This was a great misfortune to the State, since ands of tourists from foreign lands and from all parts of the United States yearly visit the Capitol. Contemplating its disgraceful condition, they must have wondered what kind of government was possessed by the State of New-

Mr. Morton is asked by certain high Repub lican politicians to put in Delehanty's place a man of the Delehanty type, whose only propriation as possible and divide it among a f lazy politicians. Mr. Morton in one case is asked to appoint the ex-king of the gamblers of one city in the State. In another case he is Thomas Reid, of Brooklyn, father a building costing Kasan has recently because fit for the position of caring for the noblest of the State's buildings. Mr. Morton possibly would do well to make an innovation in this office of Superintendent of Public Buildings and appoint some woman to the place. In that case a few women with scrubbling to the state of the state's buildings and appoint some woman to the place. In that case a few women with scrubbling to the state of the state's buildings and appoint some woman to the place. In that case a few women with scrubbling to the state of the be put at work about the Capitol, and the big building might approach a degree of cleanliness. It is to be suspected that a woman with a salary list of only $10,000 could keep the big building scrupulously clean. But the men who dawdle about it with mops never can.

Governor Morton and Controller Roberts also had a talk about the big fees Isaac E. Perry, the Capitol Commissioner, has received as architect of various State armories, asylums and prisons. Mr. Perry receives the fine salary of $7,500 yearly as Capitol Commissioner. But beyond this he has had fees as architect for the buildings the State was erecting elsewhere in the State. In five years he has received the following extra compensation for his services as architect in drawing the plans of State armories in the places named below:

Albany		$9,290 11
Buffalo
Binghamton		389.40
Catskill		933 05

Mr. Perry also has received in fees for drawing designs of the St. Lawrence State Hospital for the Insane the large sum of $65,411 19. Moreover, he has had in five years, at $7,50) a year, the goodly sum of $37,500 as salary as Capitol Commissioner. In all, therefore, Mr. Perry has re-ceived in five years from the State Treasury the following sums:

owing sums: For Armory plans. $2.2.694 74
For plans of St. Lawrence State Hospital 65.411 10
For salary as Capitol Commissioner. 37,500 99

Deputy Controller Morgan also states that certain bills of Mr. Perry for drawing plans for State prison buildings would bring up Mr. Perry's extra fees to $140,000. Adding to this the $37,500 he has received as Capitol Commissioner, it is evident that Mr. Perry has drawn out of the

it is evident that Mr. Perry has drawn out of the State Treasury in five years the sum of $177,500. Undoubtedly he has had expenses as an architect during this period and has had to deduct these expenses from the above-mentioned gains; but with these subtracted he has received great fees from the State.

Governor Morton is inclined to think, in view of this experience of the State with Mr. Perry, that the State had better have a State Architect, and he has sent on to Washington to learn what is the salary of the Government Architect. Controller Roberts yesterday said to the Governor that in his judgment this State Architect should draw the plans for all the State buildings, and not be permitted to do any outside work. "We much to be able to obtain a State Architect for $1,500 yearly," said Mr. Roberts, "and have him draw what plans must be made to complete the Capitol, and to draw plans also for all the other state buildings which may be authorized. But surely the Capitol Commissioner, the head architect in the employ of the State, should not be permitted to get extra compensation for every other State building he designs. One officer at the head of a State Architect's Bureau, which might be created, could do all this work and a vast expense in architect's fees be saved."

It is probable that a joint committee will be appointed by the Legislature to examine the salary list of all the State bureaus, commissions and departments, with authority to learn by the examination of witnesses where reductions in the number of employes can be made with advantage to the State and its treasury. The salary list is stupendous and the number of drones enormous, and there is no question but that Governor Morton, Controller Roberts and the Legislature between them before spring comes will largely reduce the State's expenses.

The streets and sidewalks where ice had formed were particularly slippery yesterday, the rain having made the uneven surfaces like polished glass. In the lower part of the city torrents ran down the gatters and the sewers had all they could do to carry off the rain and half-methed snow.

MUST ASK REPUBLICANS, AFTER ALL, From The Burlington Gowan Hawkeye. It is very probable that the Administration will turn to the incoming Congress with the request to pass a measure of relief. Of course it will be a numiliation to the bemocratic Administration to be compelled to seek the relief at the hands of a Republican Congress which itself and a Democratic Congress were unable to procure. But it will be a patrictic action and one that will have good results.

ANYTHING TO GET OUT OF A HOLE.

ANYTHING TO GET OUT OF A HOLE.

From The Indianapolis Journal.

It is said the Administration Congressmen no longer have any choice as to what kind of a currency bill is passed, and will be satisfied with anything that can command a majority of votes. In other words, they are more concerned about getting the Democratic party out of its present dilemma than they are in passing a safe and sound currency bill.

The fact that the President is very active in advocating the Carlisle bill promises ill for the success of that measure. Grover's influence is not what it used to be before the tremendous disaster which overwhelmed his party last November. His pressize is broken, and his enemies are multiplied and strengthened beyond all precedent. THEY WILL FARE ILL, EITHER WAY.

From The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

There is a question as to whether the President will condescend to communicate his views of finance directly to Congress, or will permit Congress to learn of them through a letter to his friend Wilson, of West Virginia, or Catchings, of Mississippi. In either case the House will have fun with them.

DR. PARKHURST ON KEEPING UP THE FIGHT Dr. Parkhurst was not in good voice yesterday, when he preached his morning serm in, he was not so vigorous as is his custom. He spoke on the subject of the work to be done during the coming months in assisting the newly elected city officials in carrying out the work of reform which they class in carrying out the work of reform which they have undertaken. He said it would be expected with Mr. Platt several weeks ago, but nothing came of it, so far as his candidacy is concerned. Mr. Platt declines to call off his people, and so the first is on. and though he had his usually large congregation when he preached his morning sermon, he was not that every person interested in freeing the city of the crime which has panced it down for so many years, must buckle on his arroor and help! many years, must buckle on his arrior and help in the work of preventing corruption and crime from ever obtaining another foothood in the city of New-York. He thanked those who have worked for the cause of reform, and paid a hearty tribute to the men who were instrumental in plecing the members of the reform administration in the chair. He said that it would not be the proper thing for the victors, flushed with the wine of their victory, to sleep without having their arms always at hand to keep out the invader.

Now comes the fight for control of the organization in this county. Mr. Platt is determined to win it, no matter what it costs, and his followers believe that he will do so, their belief amounting to an absolute certainty. Mr. Brookfield, the candidate of the opposition, is equally confident various rumors have been circulated, among them one that Mr. Brookfield will rethe before the election in consequence of an understanding with Mr. Platt. They are without foundation. Mr. Brookfield believes that he will be chosen to succeed himself. A majority of the 152 delegates, he thinks, are in favor of him, not, as he modestly says, on account of his personality or any particular claims that he may have upon the office, het simply on account of what he represents, the people as against the close corporation tendencies of one wing of the party. He has no understanding with Mr. Platt, nor is any compromise, according to his emphatic declaration, within the range of possibility.

What will be the result? Mr. Platt's friends say that they have more than eighty votes to cast against Mr. Brookfield, and that they are going to bring out a candidate who will be so satisfactory to many of Mr. Brookfield's friends that less than iffly delegates will cast their votes for the present chalrman. They claim to be making great inrods in Mr. Brookfield's territory, and are never tired of pointing to the XXIIId District as filustrating their progress. The XXIIId District is the stamping ground of that lightning-change artist of local politics, Abraham S. Gruber. Mr. Gruber was originally a Platt man. He wanted to be be-pury Attorney-General of the State under Mr. Hamoock. Mr. Plant could not give him the place and he promptly denounced Mr. Plant as a bad man. He kept on Jenouncing him all winter and summer, but inter in the fail, after Mr. Morton's election, he tempered his wrath a little and finally blossomed out as an enthustastic follower of the Ross. He now proposes to deliver the district to his chief. He may do so, but there are several thousand West Side members of the party who assert the contrary.

It is generally agreed among the best politicians that Mayor Strong can decide the contest one way or the other, but the Platt people boast that the Mayor Strong can decide the contest one way or the other, but the Platt people boast that the Mayor Strong can decide the contest one way or the other, but the Platt people boast that the Mayor Strong can decide the contest one way or the other, but the Platt people boast that the Mayor Strong has the best transit against them.
